

Can you identify this condition?

Claudio Guarneri MD Giancarlo Valenti MD

A 72-year-old white man affected by vitiligo presented to our unit with a 4-month history of nail loss and an asymptomatic round, firm, flesh-coloured, slightly erythematous and erosive nodule located on the subungual area of the third finger of his right hand.

The most likely diagnosis is

1. Pyogenic granuloma
2. Glomus tumour
3. Subungual exostosis
4. Amelanotic subungual melanoma
5. Subungual verruca

Answer on page 1698