From the publisher. This is a vital and timely book that covers medical systems practised on 5 continents. The World Health Organization has acknowledged that most people living in developing countries continue to use traditional medicine. Increased levels of immigration and migration mean that health professionals are more likely to come into contact with patients who use such systems. This book is therefore a crucial resource for complementary and alternative practitioners and students worldwide and for health care providers working in a multicultural society, enabling them to interact effectively with their patients.

From the publisher. This book is an invaluable new resource to help Canadians navigate the health care system, especially in relation to medication safety. The authors of the book, 2 of Canada's most respected health care professionals, provide down-to-earth advice to help all Canadians avoid common pitfalls and achieve the safest health outcomes for their families and for themselves.

In clear and engaging language, Take As Directed provides a firsthand description of the inner workings of the nation's doctor's offices, pharmacies, hospitals, and more. This definitive resource outlines the current situation; identifies key safety and efficacy issues; proposes a means for helping patients each step of the way; and offers information on programs, tools, and techniques available to patients. The issues in Take As Directed affect all Canadians, and the book provides answers for all stakeholders in the health care system.

From the publisher. BNF for Children (BNFC) provides essential, practical information to all health care professionals involved in the prescribing, dispensing, monitoring, and administration of medicines to children. The book encourages the safe, effective, and appropriate use of medicines for the management of childhood conditions. Information in BNFC has been validated against emerging evidence, best practice guidelines, and advice from a network of clinical experts. The text is published under the authority of a Paediatric Formulary Committee.

As many medicines are not licensed for use in children, BNFC includes authoritative advice on licensed as well as unlicensed and off-label use of medicines in children, from birth to age 18 years. Of note, BNFC is also available in an up-to-date online version through the online knowledge resource service MedicinesComplete.com.

We invite you to submit book reviews for publication in Canadian Family Physician. Please e-mail books@cfpc.ca for more information.
